PHINNEY

The identity of Thankful (Phinney) Burgess presented a difficult problem. Although exact dates of birth and death are given or can be calculated from her gravestone in the John Carver cemetery in Vinalhaven, no official record of either can be located. Her death occurred at Westbrook, Maine, where no records are found for the time period (August 1891), and four months before the registration of deaths became mandatory in the State of Maine.

In practically all records which mention her place of birth (censuses, children's marriages, etc.), Massachusetts or Cape Cod is given. However, the marriage record of her daughter, Esther, specifically gives the birthplace of her mother as Brewster, Massachusetts. The bridegroom in that marriage, Franklin H. Phinney, son of Isaiah Phinney, gave his father's birthplace also as Brewster. From this, it is presumed that Isaiah and Thankful Phinney may have been brother and sister.

A search was made of all Cape Cod census entries for Phinney families in the 1800, 1810, 1820, and 1830 censuses. The Town of Brewster only had a small Phinney population in 1800 (3 families) and 1810 (4 families), only one family in 1820, and none in 1830. Of the four families there in 1810, only one, the family of Gershom Phinney Jr. (aged 26-45, and therefore born between 1765 and 1784) had any children at all under the age of 10 years, and he had both two boys and two girls in that age range.^[204] Then, he does not appear in 1820 at all.

On 7 May 1803, GERSHOM PHINNEY JUNR and LOIS HIGGINS WING "both of Brewster" entered their intention of marriage with the Brewster Town Clerk. They were married there later that month, 26 May 1803.^[205]

The Phinney Genealogy appears tentative on this family, and does not name any children of the 1800-1810 time period for Gershom and Lois Phinney.^[206] Gershom Phinney Jr., identified therein as born in August 1779 from a gravestone record, is claimed to be the son of another Gershom

Phinney Jr., born in Harwich in 1776. These dates do not seem likely, and more than one Gershom Phinney may have been confused. It is also not certain that one Gershom Phinney Jr. of interest (head of the Brewster family in 1810) is the same person as found later on Nantucket with a second and much younger wife and family.^[207] Record of Lois' birth has not been found in any of the published Cape Cod records, and she does not appear in the Wing Genealogy.^[208]

Nevertheless, only one person on Cape Cod appeared to be a solid candidate for father of Isaiah and Thankful Phinney of Maine, based on these circumstances.

After reaching this conclusion, and just prior to the publication of this article, I became aware of a handwritten note preserved by the descendants of Thankful (Phinney) Burgess, that not only confirms the finding, but adds additional detail which provides much greater depth to our understanding of this branch of the family. The note is dated at Whitehead, June 12, 1880, and titled (written on the outside leaf), "My Mother Thankful Burgess and her ancestors." I believe this indicates that the note was actually written by Abbie (Burgess) Grant, and may have been her recording of verbal information given to her at that time by her mother. The note is entirely of the same handwriting, but the words are clearly those of Thankful Burgess. Practically all the data concerns the Wing side of the family. I have rearranged the order somewhat to aid the reader, omitted some peripheral information, and added commentary in brackets:

Thankful Burgess the daughter of Gershom Phinney and Lois Wing. . . . My mother Lois Wing's great grandfather's name was Anna[?l]ais Wing he had three sons and one daughter. . . . My great grandfather had three sons and one daughter [this sentence and the previous one appear next to each other, and may be confused, or may indeed refer to two different families]. . . . I think my grandfather's name was Abner Wing and I think my grandmother's was Sally Higgins. . . . My grandfather died ninety-three years ago settling a rock in the ground, the rock fell on him killing him [this would have been in 1787. In another place, it says that "my grandfather died in 1778," which appears to have been miscalculated]. . . . My grandfather left three girls[?] aunt Thankful, aunt Sally and my mother Lois Wing. . . . my Mother was born in 1783 [elsewhere it says she was 97 years old "last March," which would more precisely place the date of Lois Wing's birth in March 1793]. . . . My mother Lois

This absorbing first-hand account of the Phinney and Wing connections completes the writer's original objective of identifying the eight grandparents of Abbie and Isaac Grant. Time will not permit the development of complete lines to these fairly well-documented Cape Cod lines for the purpose of this article. This completion should be a straightforward effort, however, now that the connection points are known.

The children of Cershom, Jr., and Lois Higgins (Wing) Phinney include:

- + i. THANKFUL PHINNEY, b. at Brewster, Mass., ca. 31 May 1806; m. SAMUEL BURGESS, q.v.

Frederick C. Hart, Jr., C.G., is a retired engineering manager and resides at 1311 Great Hill Road, North Guilford, CT 06437. The writer would like to note his sincere thanks to the state, county, city and town officials who, without exception, were cheerful and helpful in the use of their records; to the historical societies and their members, especially Nadine Hoyt at Hampden, Dana Smith at Marshall Point, and Priscilla Rosen and Bob Tolman at Vinalhaven; to Bob Davis at the Shore Village Museum in Rockland, for his introduction to Abbie's story; and to author Ruth Sargent, for her hospitality and encouragement.

209. The note is in the possession of Mrs. Meralyn Taylor of Covington, Ky., a great granddaughter of Isaac and Abbie Grant, and is quoted here with her kind permission. The writer is not immediately able to identify Partridgefield's location within Connecticut, and the birth of Lois Wing has not found its way into the Barbour Index of Connecticut Vital Records.

IS THE MYSTERY OF THE ORIGIN OF AGATHA, WIFE OF EDWARD THE EXILE, FINALLY SOLVED?

René Jetté*

Medieval chroniclers, as well as historians and genealogists, unanimously give the first name Agatha to the wife of Prince Edward of England, known as the Exile. However, confusion and improbability about her identity have reigned for nine centuries. The mystery of Agatha has its origin in the exceptional circumstances of her marriage. That is the reason why narration of these circumstances must precede the argument for the proof of the identity of her father and mother.

The basic data for this case are derived from a number of historical and genealogical works whose facts are not always in agreement. These are: Burke's Genealogical and Heraldic History of the Peerage, Baronetage, and Knightage (104th ed., Peter Townend, ed., London, 1967 [hereinafter Burke's Peerage]), ix, lxxxi; Edward Augustus Freeman, The History of the Norman Conquest of England: Its Causes and Its Results (2 vols., 3rd. ed., Oxford, 1875-1879 [hereinafter Freeman]), 1:412-415, 2:374-379, 416-419, 668-673; Nicholas Hooper, "Edward the Atheling: Anglo-Saxon Prince, Rebel and Crusader," Anglo-Saxon England [hereinafter Hooper], 14 (1985): 197-214, at 197-201; Wilhelm Karl von Isenburg, Stammfuehrer zur Geschichte des Europäischen Staates, 2 vols. in 1 (2nd ed., Marburg, Germany, 1960 [hereinafter Isenburg]), 1:table 4, 2:tables 58, 67, 70, 77, 89, 104, 141; G. Andrews Moriarty, "Agatha, Wife of the Atheling Eadward," New England Historical and Genealogical Register [hereinafter Moriarty], 106 (1952):52-61; R. L. Graeme Ritchie, The Normans in Scotland (Edinburgh, 1954 [hereinafter Ritchie]), 389-92; Gabriel Ronay, The Last King of England: The East European Adventures of Edward the Exile (Woodbridge, U.K., 1989 [hereinafter Ronay]); Detlev Schwennicke,

*René Jetté, Ph.D. (Demography), has been teaching History at the Cégep de Saint-Hyacinthe since 1967. He also has been a part-time researcher with the Programme de recherche en démographie historique (Université de Montréal) and with IRÉP (Université du Québec à Chicoutimi). His publications include the Dictionnaire épistémologique des familles du Québec des origines à 1750 (1983) and Traité de géographie (1991), both with Les Presses de l'Université de Montréal.
